About

Dedicated to providing personalized, holistic coaching to help reduce barriers and promote healing.

I excel at building relationships and creating opportunities for personal empowerment. My undergraduate experience at Bethel University, where I am a Junior Psychology major, has deepened my desire to pursue School Psychology. Serving in the Girls Inc. Program at the YWCA has given me valuable experience working with youth who have a history of trauma. I am passionate about serving students overlooked by the system. My recent internship with Therapeutic Services Agency grew my facilitation and counseling skills.

I am seeking an internship in a school and connections with professionals working in the field of Psychology for Informational Interviews. If your organization has an opportunity or you are willing to meet for a conversation, please connect with me on LinkedIn or email me at bethelsample@bethel.edu
